Ferropolis, 7 June 2017

By posting our running order today, we can now reveal when artists such as Die Antwoord, Bonobo (live), M.I.A. or Phoenix will be conquering the stages amongst the massive steel giants in Ferropolis. With Viennese rapper Mavi Phoenix, London-based Dark Sky, Gajek, Demian of Kompakt fame and John Osborn B2B Pablo Mateo, we also unveil the final acts of our 120 artist strong lineup to take the festival's seven stages.

Once again, we bring plenty of innovative highlights to the Ferropolis peninsula for our festival-goers to discover. Last year, we introduced the Forest including a wine bar, new beaches, hammocks and idyllic chill-out zones. This year, the Berlinbased Sisyphos club, which has developed into one of Berlin's hotspots for House & Techno, will host this particular area with great love for detail. The club's owners invited lots of friends friends to lure the crowd to the dance floor from dusk till dawn.

With this year's Melt Art Space, we made a long-held dream come true in cooperation with Toyota C-HR, creating a space for interdisciplinary and contemporary art at the Orangerie for the first time ever. As part of the Melt Art Space, Kurt Hentschläger, one of the most innovative media artists, will premier his audiovisual installation *FEED II**. In addition, US-based choreographer Richard Siegal will perform a piece called Soli for Corey with the newly founded Ballet of Difference company

Tickets for the entire festival weekend as well as day tickets (Friday, Saturday or Sunday) and tickets to our pre-party with Fatboy Slim and more at Sleepless floor on July 13 are currently still available via our website.
